The Editor of a Great Paper Cured by Paine's Celery Compound.

The Banner of Light, is as every one knows, one of the most successful denominational publications issued in this country.

In its 77th volume, it is at once conservative and bright, discussing not only modern spiritualism, but frequently lending its influence fearlessly in matters of public importance outside of its principal field.

Mr. John W. Day, who is the editor and one of the proprietors, writes in the Banner of Light as follows, to the proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound:

"I owe you a debt of gratitude in placing in the box factory of Carriage, Williams & Wright and in a few moments the whole block bounded by Fourth, Fifth, Bryant and Brannan streets was in a blaze. It spread south and east until it reached the large brick building corner of Fourth and Townsend street, formerly occupied by the general offices of the Southern Pacific Company, but now used as a store-house. The people were panic stricken and it was estimated that no less than 100,000 persons were assembled in the vicinity of the fire and the police could not keep them away. When the fire had burned for three hours the wind shifted and blew the flames back over the burnt district.

Several persons were injured and a Miss Gilroy while attempting to save some of her personal effects, was covered with oil and burned to death. Three blocks were burned and the loss is estimated at over $1,000,000, about one-third of which was covered with insurance. About three hundred families are homeless without clothing or furniture and many of them are destitute. The Examiner has started a relief fund to provide for the immediate wants of the homeless and destitute.

A strong wind was blowing when the fire broke out and the flames spread with alarming rapidity. Though seventeen engines were seen at the scene they could not check the flames until the wind changed.

The burned district comprised factories, lumber yards and tenement houses, the latter mostly occupied by poor people. This district was considered dangerous by insurance companies and rates were high. Although hundreds of buildings were burned and three blocks devastated, the pecuniary loss is not as large as it might be supposed as the buildings were frame structures. The wheries of S. Lachman & Co., Lachman & Jacob and Kohler & Van Bergens are in the vicinity, each containing millions of gallons of wine, as is also the hardware store of Baker & Hamilton and the big brick building of the Southern Pacific Company which stopped the fire in that direction.

Church Notice.

At the Seventh-day Adventist Church on Fifth street on this, the Sabbath Day, at 11 o'clock A. M. there will be preaching by Elder A. W. Bartlett, also to-morrow, Sunday, at 7:45 P. M. subject, "Then Said I, O, My Lord, What Shall be the End of These Things?"—Daniel, 12:8. All are cordially invited.

The State Line Mills are now running full blast and are ready to fill orders for mining timber or building material

The Republicans and the Administration Democrats have discovered an easy way of settling the silver question by saying nothing about it in their platforms and those who place party success before general prosperity commend their wisdom.

A majority of the Kentucky Democratic Convention followed the example of the Cleveland Republican Convention, and achieved "a signal victory for free coinage" by utterly ignoring it.

has not worked a benefit. "Yours truly, John W. Day." Mr. Day's portrait is given above. He is a member of the Masonic, Odd Fellows, Grand Army and other fraternal organizations, and is highly esteemed by his brethren and others in the social walks of life.

His gratitude for the good that this greatest of remedies has done him is in no sense remarkable. Thousands who have been made well by Paine's Celery Compound, have sent their unsolicited testimonials to the proprietors of the remedy or direct to medical journals or newspapers, telling for the benefit of others, the results that have followed the use of the remedy that is food for the nerves and brain, that enriches the blood, that makes the weak strong, and is the one never failing specific, prescribed by physicians and recommended by all who have ever faithfully used it, for insomnia, nervous debility, neuralgia, rheumatism, indigestion and the many ills that come from deranged worn-out nerves and impure blood.

A MILLION-DOLLAR BLAZE.

Three Blocks Burned and Nearly Two Hundred Families Left Destitute in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—A fire to-day started in the box factory of Carriage, Williams & Wright and in a few moments the whole block bounded by Fourth, Fifth, Bryant and Brannan streets was in a blaze. It spread south and east until it reached the large brick building corner of Fourth and Townsend street, formerly occupied by the general offices of the Southern Pacific Company, but now used as a store-house. FLUSH TIMES IN WASHOE.

Advance in Prices Incident to Mining—Lack-Aiding Citizens Notwithstanding Their Names.

As stated in a former letter, the year 1880 brought with it many changes from the plodding and quiet ways of the early settlers in Washoe Valley.
The products of the soil, which for years had but a nominal value, and largely a matter of barter, were now in demand at very high prices as compared with the present, and gold and silver coins were freely exchanged for grain, hay and all kinds of farm and garden produce. These high prices were, of course, very acceptable to those who had such products to sell, but to many poor immigrants, who were then coming across the plains, the prices were usually a great surprise.
Being on the plains all the Summer where vegetables were not to be had at any price, they naturally wanted an early change of diet when arriving where garden and field products could be had. This was illustrated to this writer near Ragtown on the Carson River in 1880. Our train of twenty-seven wagons had just crossed the "Great American Desert" and was amped a few miles up the river from where we encountered good water and grass, just above Ragtown. Near our camp was a buckster from California by the name of B. C. Raynolds, who had gone down to meet the incoming immigrants with fresh vegetables as well as flour and other necessities of life. Of our party was the family of Sam Smith from Iowa. Mrs. Smith soon heard that fresh vegetables were to be had from the buckster and told Sam to go over to the "store" and get some potatoes for a change. Sam, in response, hunted up the family purse, which, by the way, was not at all plenteous, and started. Arriving in front of the buckster's layout he accosted the dealer by saying: "Hello, Captain!
Have you any potatoes?" Being informed that potatoes were kept in stock, Sam next inquired the price.
The dealer said he was selling them at "fifteen cents." Sam promptly said, "give me a bushel." The dealer readily divined the fact that Sam did not fully comprehend the situation so he said:
"Stranger I guess you are off your nut a little; potatoes are sold by the pound and not by the bushel." Sam tumbled and almost instantly said: "I will take a pound." The central system in the sale of potatoes was new and interesting to "all tender feet" then.

On arriving at Carson City we found produce and provisions much cheaper, that is to say, potatoes could be had for ten cents a pound. All kinds of farm produce was selling at about the same high rates, so it is no wonder that the farmers in Washoe Valley were prosperous. Their farms were often as valuable as the silver mines. Hay was a legal tender on the Comstock at from one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars per ton for fair quality and even salt grass and dried tule were in demand. I might diverge here and tell of how Frank Dickinson laid the foundation of his fortune, but I won't.
"Tule" has since turned over a new leaf and joined the church and I don't believe in holding his weaknesses before the world, and then, too, there is more or less merit in his defense when he says that "the devilish sneakers who didn't know hay from cord wood ought to be biked."

Looking back to the time of thirty-five years ago it cannot be said that the valley has materially changed in general appearance. The valley was then divided into farms and holdings very much like now. But the change wrought in the foothills and mountains on the west and south are great. Then all were covered with an immense growth of forest trees which in a few years were converted into wood and lumber for the Comstock. Indeed, for a number of years these forests supplied the entire demand. In 1860 it was decided by many of the leading mining companies of the Comstock to build their mills and reduction works in the valley near the timber and mountain streams. The ores were hailed down from Virginia and Gold Hill while the same teams took back wood and lumber as back freight. In the Fall of 1860 the first Silver Mining Company began the erection of extensive reduction works two miles south of Franktown where they spent over half a million on their works for the extraction of the precious metals.
But as the then four or five saw mills in the valley could not supply the increasing demand for lumber, the company first erected a saw mill of their own and thus produced most of the material used in the extensive quartz mill which they built immediately surrounding it. Millwrights, carpenters, masons, machinists and common laborers were in demand at much better wages than to-day. Work was pushed through the entire winter so that in May 1861 the works were started and immense amounts of gold and silver were added to the world's stock of those metals. Captain William L. Dall was Superintendent. T. B. Shamp, afterwards a Senator from Washoe, was the secretary. Hundreds of men were employed directly and indirectly around the works. The same spring the company sold part of their lands to Captain H. A. Cheever and C. S. Potter for a town site near the works. As soon as the lots were surveyed they were sought for at round prices and the town of Ophir was built up very rapidly. The town-site company erected a neat and substantial school house and donated it to the town so that during the summer of 1861 the first term of public school was held with Miss Addie Ferguson as teacher. Previously, by common consent, the people held an election for school trustees and elected

The inhabitants increased very rapidly so that before winter came again the place was one of considerable importance and, notwithstanding there was no law, the community was the most law-abiding and best regulated to be found anywhere. Every one seemed bent on following the golden rule and treated his neighbor with Christian forbearance even though it was not then known that there was a single Christian or church member in the town. In some respects the community was a motley gathering, for there were people from all States in the Union as well as from many nations of the globe, including native Indians, not taxed, and men from Ohio, by mutual consent, but without special agreement, everybody minded his own business and police courts were not needed. A large number of the residents were known by nicknames given them on account of some personal peculiarity.
Very few took any pains to know the true name of his neighbor. Henry S.
Smith was known as "Brick Top" on account of his red hair. G. W. Atkinson passed as "Old Tennessee." When the Sunday School was organized it was discovered that "Noisy Dave" was none other than Dave Eber, now of Wadsworth. "Big Noble," when arrested for fishing on Sunday, admitted his true name to be N. M. Jellerson. M.
C. Sloan was known as "Pike." The true name of "Sailor Jack" was John Saunders. Charley Howard answered to the name of "Texas" Dave Bittenger was always hailed as "Finnigan." The real name of "Buckeye George" was Sam Hawkins. "Farmer Jim" signed his name as J. H. Sturtevant. "Handsome Brady" signed the pay roll as Michael Brady. A young woman waiting on table at the Ophir House was known to most of the boys as the "Monitor," and Susan Fleming, possibly on account of her size, was referred to by the ungodly as "The Great Eastern."

Then there was "Big Pete," "Slim Jim," "Boston Charley," "Dutch Ike," "Spooney Sanders" and "Dublin Pete." In some instances their true names were never known in that community.
When the Registry law went into effect later on most of those remaining made a record of their true names, although the fellow who passed for a long time as "Old Blue Mass" finally established his true name, when he joined the church, to be Doctor Hogan.

Later on, more.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Storm and Warm Waves—July Temperature and Rainfall.

(Copyrighted 1895, by W. T. Foster.)

Sr Joseph, Mo., June 28.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from June 30th to July 4th and the next will reach the Pacific Coast about July 5th, cross the west of Rockies country by the close of the 6th, Great Central Valleys about the 10th.

Accompanying this disturbance a very considerable amount of rain will fall from Kansas and Nebraska, along and near the 40th parallel to New York and the New England States, and following this disturbance the weather will be very cool for the time of year.

In connection with this storm wave the warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about July 5th, great central valleys July 7th and the Eastern States about the 9th. The cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 8th, great central valleys 10th and Eastern States 11th.

The third disturbance of July will reach the Pacific Coast about July 11th, cross the west of Rockies country by close of 12th the great central valleys 13th to 15th and Eastern States 16th.

Rains from this disturbance will be about the same and in some parts of the United States, as mentioned for the storm wave of 6th to 10th, and following the storm the temperature will be lower than usual.

The warm wave connected with this last disturbance will cross the west of Rockies country about the 11th, great central valleys 13th and Eastern States 15th. The cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 14th great central valleys 16th and Eastern States 18th.

JULY TEMPERATURE AND RAIN.

As no writer has ever lived, whose productions have been understood alike by all who have read them, frequent explanations are necessary, in order that a fair proportion of my readers may give a right construction to my weather forecasts.

There is a broken chord somewhere, that by sympathetic vibrations or otherwise, incapacitates the English—I would rather say United States language from being understood, even when written in the plainest newspaper or magazine sentences.

In my long range forecasts of temperature and rain or drought it is not possible to be exact in all particulars, but I try to make the forecasts practical. My weather tables unmistakably indicate the general characteristics of the crop and the winter seasons, but it is very difficult to determine exactly when the change from a drought to excessive rains or from a long heated term to a long low temperature will occur.

But I can, as my readers well know, give fair warning of a drought, as I did in reference to the April and May drouth of this year, and of the breaking up of the drouth as I did in reference to June for west of the Mississippi, and a continuance of the drouth well along into June for east of the Mississippi.

If readers will note carefully all these forecasts, they will find them practically correct, although a drought predicted for one month may run over a little into the following month and the same may occur as to temperatures.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J.
Gunderman, of Diamonddale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract:
"I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Daptist Church at River Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles new law governing the same.

The Grandest Medicine.

One of Reno's prominent ladies says:
"Yiavi is the grandest medicine in the world." She had treated with the best specialists in the city; also had employed local physicians, but says: "Yiavi beats them all," and I quite agree with her. I will be pleased to explain the cures we make to all who call.

An Up to Date Maid.

Where are you going, my pretty maid?
"Up to the drug store sir," she said.
What do you need at the drug store, pray A package of Tea I need to-day.
Is that what makes your skin so white?
Certainly, sir, for I take it each night.
Now, maiden fair, what may this be?
Why, silly fellow, of course Park's Tea. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. "I get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., printed near the bottom of the package."

The Wadsworth Dispatch says Senator Dubois, the Idaho wind bag, who made so many scurrilous remarks about Senator Stewart during the latter's campaign showed himself the craven at the Cleveland Convention. No silver resolution was adopted, but Dubois still trains with the party.

When Brady was sick, he gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she used for Castoria.
When she became a Girl, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Could Not Be Cured
So They Said and So I Thought

But Hood's Sarsaparilla Did Cure.

"For 7 long years I was a constant sufferer with indigestion, and I tried prescriptions and remedies until I became so low that I had given up all hope of recovery, and my friends thought also that I could not be cured. The poison in my blood had set in deeply, and my limbs were a Solid Mass of Sores.

I was confined to the house and to my bed most of the time. I happened to read an advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the paper and I at once prevailed upon my husband to let me try it. I got one bottle and it did me so much good that I kept using it until I had taken twelve bottles and now I am entirely cured. I am a well and hearty woman and can do any work with ease and comfort."
